

Π Π ρ

The image shows three red Greek letters at the top: two Pi symbols (Π) and one rho symbol (ρ). Below them are three stylized, thick black calligraphic strokes. The first stroke is a single continuous line that starts with a small hook, curves upwards and to the right, and then curves downwards and to the left. The second stroke is a single continuous line that starts with a small hook, curves upwards and to the right, and then curves downwards and to the left. The third stroke is a single continuous line that starts with a small hook, curves upwards and to the right, and then curves downwards and to the left.
